Russia Claims Halt to Testing Nuclear Arms

By WHITMAN BASSOW
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP)—Russia today imposed a halt to its tests of "all forms of nuclear weapons."

The ban was proposed before the Supreme Soviet by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The Supreme Soviet had yet to approve the proposal, but such approval could be taken for granted.

But if the United States, Britain and other nuclear powers fail to take a similar step, the Soviet Union said it "naturally" would have to reconsider the action in the interests of its security.

"The Council of Ministers proposes that as a first step the Soviet Union unilaterally stop tests of all forms of nuclear weapons," Gromyko said.

He did not mention a date when the proposed ban should take effect.

Announces N-W Cabinet

The Soviet move comes at a time when the Russians are reported to have completed the latest in a series of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons tests in their Siberian and Arctic testing grounds and just before the United States is scheduled to start a new test series of its own at Eniwetok in the Pacific.

The foreign minister put forward the dramatic proposal of Nikita Khrushchev's new cabinet after a preamble in which he charged Russia was the only one of the three atomic powers ready to agree on a ban.

It came on the same day that new Premier Khrushchev presented his cabinet list to the Supreme Soviet. This list named former Premier Nikolai Bulganin to the relatively unimportant post of president of the state bank and promoted Khrushchev's protégé P. R. Koslov to the rank of first deputy premier.

Gromyko said the West was saying — by its attempt to make "clean" bombs — to divert attention from the main problem: The race between peace and war.

He called it "Classical Step."

There are some people in the United States who think atom and bombs are necessary to prevent

Union Threatens Strike in State

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Two union spokesmen Sunday threatened work stoppages unless contractors grant pay raises.

W. H. Thomas, business representative of Painters Local 424 said the union is seeking 25 cents an hour pay increase with half of the raise effective immediately. The union is negotiating with Painting and Decorating Contractors of America.

Ernest E. Gragson, head of Bricklayers Local 1, said his union wants 10 cents an hour pay increase now, another 10 cents in April 1959, and a third 10 cent pay books in April, 1960.

Both said there would be work stoppages Tuesday if negotiations are not close to settlement.

About 375 workers are involved. No major projects would be affected. However, Thomas and Gragson said.

Urges U.S. to Forget Jobless Pay Proposal

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Little Rock, Ark., lawyer today urged Congress to suspend action on proposed bills which contemplate payment of federal aid or other benefits to the unemployed covered by state laws.

Pulaski County Rep. Gayle Windsor Jr. made the suggestion in a statement prepared for delivery to the House Ways and Means committee.

"I have proposed, and repeat here, that the United States Congress should suspend all action on these bills which contemplate the payment of federal aid, bonus grant or supplemental benefits to the unemployed covered under existing state unemployment compensation laws," Windsor said. "If it is made plain that the states will be expected to initiate their own solutions... then the program will be allowed to function in the manner originally intended by Congress."

Windsor, speaking for the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Arkansas, said Congress "when it set up federal-state unemployment benefits planned for the program to be insurance, not relief. But since 1939, the federal government has attempted to dominate the unemployment insurance program to make the various states' programs conform to federal ideals of benefit formulas, disqualifications, tax rates, financing and administration, the state representative said.

"This pressure has been resisted... because of the simple fact the states have deemed it unwise... to convert their insurance programs into welfare or relief programs," he said. "I am convinced that their attitude remains the same today."

Windsor cited the almost nine billion dollars the states have in their unemployment programs and said it is "incongruous" the federal government proposed to spend $800,000,000 for supplemental unemployment benefits.

He said if legislation is passed to provide supplemental federal benefits the inevitable result would be federal control.

"I urge this committee not to approve any hasty, ill-considered action which would impair and eventually destroy the present state unemployment compensation systems," he concluded.

Yerger High Now Member of the NCA

H. C. Yerger High School of Hope and five other high schools of Arkansas were accepted into the North Central Association at its annual meeting in Chicago, Ill., Friday, March 28.

The North Central Association comprises 19 states in the North Central part of the United States. This represents the highest rating any school can attain.

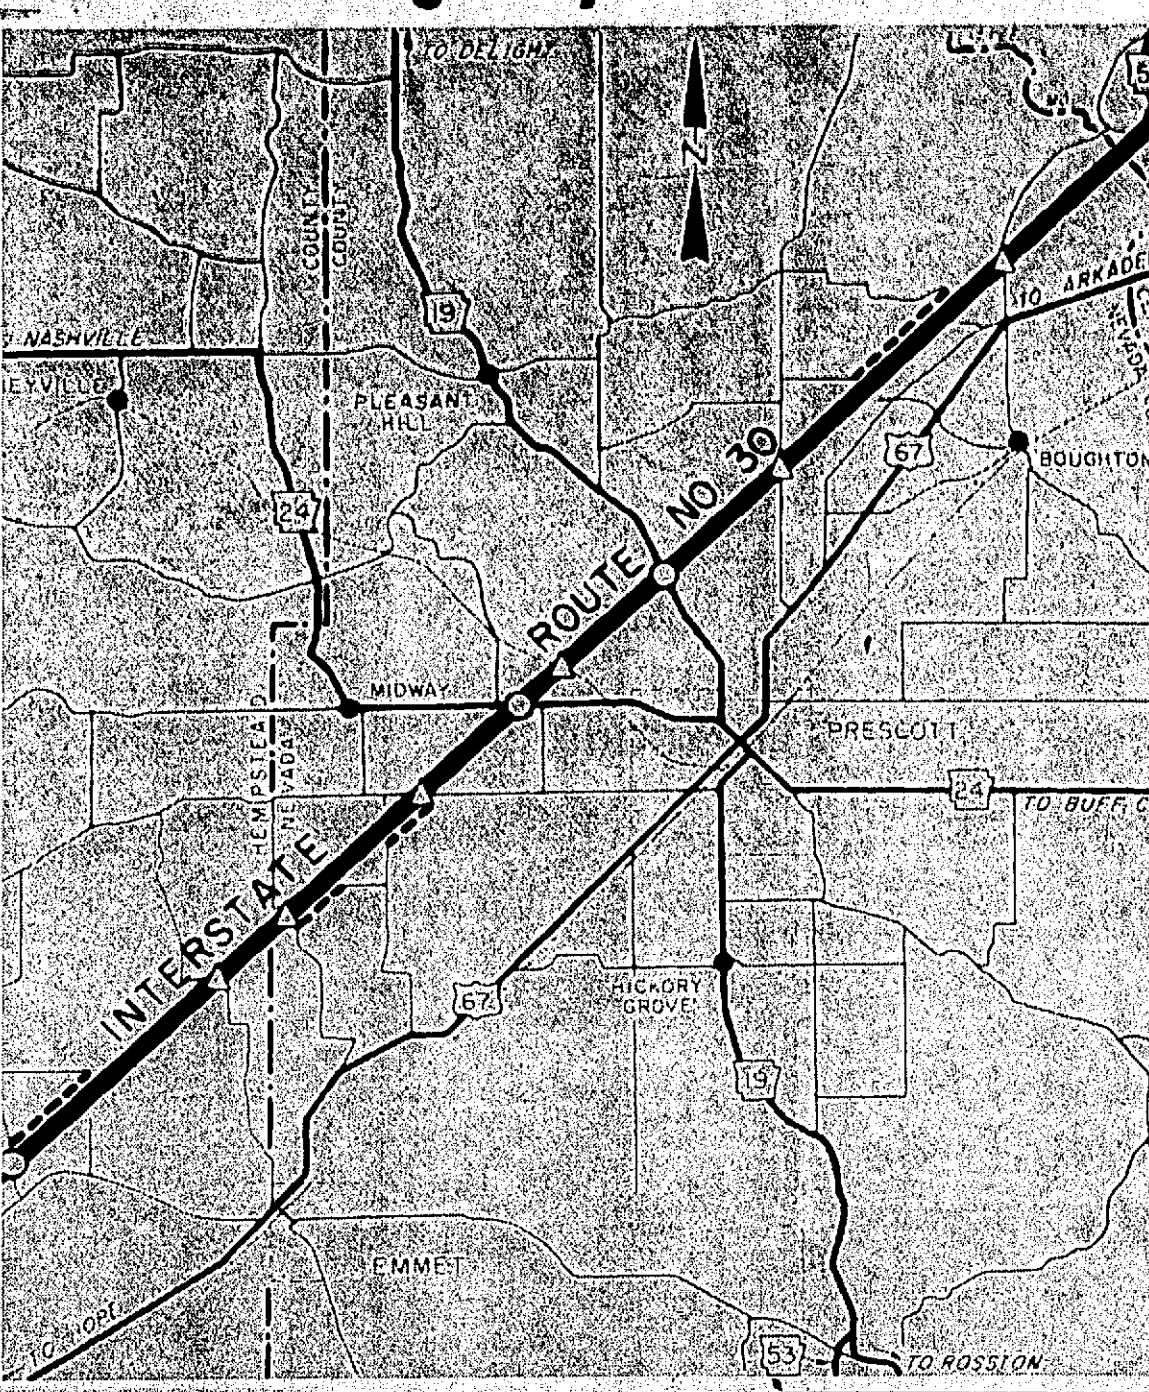

Will V. Rutherford, Principal of Yerger High School said this indicates a very high quality of work in this school. All schools file a report which is reviewed annually and any school that does not maintain high standards in scholarship may be dropped from the association. If corrections are not made in accordance with the regulations.

Better schools and colleges of high standards hold membership in this association.

The school administration wishes to express its appreciation to local citizens and the school board for the splendid cooperation given in the effort to attain this recognition, for without the cooperation of local citizens the school could not have such a record.

Other schools in Arkansas accepted into membership in the North Central were: Jonesboro, Washington High School; Little Rock, Hall High School; Pleasanton, Pleasanton High School; Texarkana, Washington High School; and West Helena, Dunn Miller High School.

U.S. Satellite Experts Feel There Is Evidence of Some Form of Life on Planet Mars

WASHINGTON (UP)—The head of the U.S. satellite program says there is evidence there may be "some form of life" on Mars. He said this country may be able to probe to Mars by 1960 or 1961.

Dr. Richard W. Porter, chairman of the U.S. earth satellite program of the International Geophysical Year, also said he thinks the United States and Russia are at a "draw" right now in their earth satellite programs.

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy Vanguard satellite program, agreed the satellite contest at this point is "going along pretty much even-steam."

Hagen also estimated the United States could send a rocket to the moon "in a year or two." But he said it would be "very, very much longer before a man was landed there."

However, Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commanding general of the Cape Canaveral missile test center, predicted this country would get a man to the moon within the next 10 years.

The three top satellite rocket experts were interviewed Sunday on separate television programs.

TO ARGUE TIDELAND CASE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—Atty. Gen. John Patterson said Sunday he and the attorneys general of four other Gulf states will go before the U.S. Supreme Court in October to argue the constitutionality of the tideland oil case.

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy Vanguard satellite program, agreed the satellite contest at this point is "going along pretty much even-steam."

President Vetoes Bill to Freeze Farm Supports and Acre Allotments

Millwood Dam Breakfast Set Tuesday, April 8

Another "Millwood Breakfast" will be held this year at the 33rd annual Red River Valley Association meeting in Shreveport Tuesday, April 8. It was announced today by Jack Lowe, president of Hope Chamber of Commerce.

As in the past two years, plans call for a motorcade which will leave the chamber of commerce office at 5 a. m. and will arrive in Shreveport for the breakfast in the Lake Room of the Captain Shreve Hotel at 7:30.

"Tickets went on sale today" at the C of C office, and Manning B. N. Holt announced the price at $2 per ticket which includes breakfast, lunch and tips.

Congressman Owen Harris, who was the principal speaker there last year, will again be on hand and will address the Southwest Arkansas delegation... as well as delegations from Oklahoma and Texas which are interested in the package project that includes Millwood and seven upstream dams.

Broken Bow and Idabel, Okla., delegations, as well as interested parties from Ashdown will join the Texarkana delegation and travel to Shreveport over Highway No. 71.

The Hope delegation, joined by Prescott and Fulton, will pick up additional motorists from "Magnolia, Stamps, and Lewisville as they travel south over Highway 29."

The Millwood project, tied with the seven upstream dams, has already passed the senate and house and is expected to reach the desk of the President within a few days.

In view of the large majority of votes cast in the senate and house and because of current economic conditions, many supporters of the project believe the President will sign the bill.

Kiwanians Plan 15th Minstrel

Rehearsals have begun for the 15th annual Hope Kiwanis club minstrel which will be held the nights of April 10 and 11 in the Hope high school auditorium.

Dr. Thompson has a veteran cast with which to work, including such well-knowns as Eddie Whitman, Andy Caldwell, Jimmy Miller, Horace Fuller, Harry Hawthorne, Paul O'Neal and Kelly Walton.

Many specialty acts have been planned and will be announced within a few days.

During the past 11 years, the Kiwanis club has raised and spent approximately $13,000.00 for the benefit of the youth of Hope and surrounding communities.

The Youth Center was founded by the Kiwanis club and maintained at an annual expense of $1800 until taken over by the City of Hope Parks and Recreation Committee.

In 1953 the Kiwanis club purchased K-Park as the Little League baseball park, at a cost of $4000, and since then has spent $3500 for improvements.

Proceeds from the minstrel this year will continue to go into the Kiwanis Boys' and Girls' fund for further recreational and other deserving activities for the youth of this city.

Leggett Loses Appeal to High Court

By LLOYD HOLBECK

UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Emmett Earl Leggett today lost his second appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court to escape the electric chair for the 1955 strangulation murder of a young Jacksonville boy.

In a unanimous opinion written by Associate Justice George Rose Smith, the court said its decision on the original appeal from Pulaski circuit court had "foreclosed" the argument that the 21-year-old Leggett had been deprived of his constitutional rights.

Leggett's attorney claimed under the Post Conviction Act of 1957 that his client should have been confronted in trial court by all the State Hospital doctors who declared him sane at the time of the murder.

The opinion said, however, that "the state's case was not weakened by the fact that the doctors were not present at the trial."

Leggett was charged with the murder of 12-year-old Joe King, Dec. 23, 1955. He was found guilty of first degree murder June 9, 1956. A long series of appeals and stays of execution have kept him in the death house at Tucker Prison Farm.

His Body
Leggett picked up the King boy late one evening, offering to take him home. He said later he made "unnatural sexual advances to the boy and was turned down. He said he strangled the boy, and hid his body in a clump of bushes near the Little Rock Air Force Base."

Leggett was picked up later several weeks later by Base Air Police, after he had beaten one girl, stuffed her body in the trunk of his car, and was in the act of raping her sister.

Later he confessed to the King.

Court Rules In School Board Dispute

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today declared Elmer Kirk the "daily elected" director of the Southside School District No. 9, in Independence county.

The opinion by Associate Justice J. S. Holt affirmed independence circuit court. Associate Justice J. Paul Ward did not participate.

"We have concluded that the testimony was ample to support the court's findings and the judgment rendered," the opinion said.

In the lower court the judge found that 22 of 27 absentee votes were cast illegally for Haskell Roach. The judge deducted those from Roach's total of 127, which left a net of 105 votes for Roach and 107 for Kirk.

The judge declared Kirk the winner, and Roach appealed.

The Supreme Court reviewed testimony on how five of the absentee votes were cast. He said the vote of Richard Hamilton did not comply with absentee voting laws since he did not apply for or cast his ballot in person at the county clerk's office, did not receive his ballot by mail, or did not have his ballot delivered by a relative.

The ballots of Lorn Mitchum and J. S. Gavin were not legal, the court said, because the voters were not unavoidably absent from the district because of illness or disability. The vote of Akey Duncan was not proper because he did not show why he would be absent in applying for an absentee ballot. The vote of Y. J. Barber was not legal because he had moved from the school district.

The court said the vote of Mrs. Akey Duncan was not valid but did not explain why.

Backs Benson Over Objection of Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill to freeze farm price supports and acreage allotments at last year's levels.

The bill, strongly endorsed by many farm state Republican and Democratic members of Congress, was an attempt to block cutbacks ordered and planned by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Supporters of the measure have conceded they do not have the votes needed to override the President's veto. A two-thirds majority in both houses is necessary to override a veto.

The bill sought to freeze all 1958 price supports and 1959 planting allotments at not less than 1957 levels. This would have reversed cuts ordered by Benson for nine farm commodities, including dairy products, wheat, rice, beans and several feed grains. It also would have prevented 1959 acreage cuts for cotton and rice.

The President, in rejecting the congressional move, again defended his controversial agriculture secretary.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress today expected President Eisenhower to veto a bill to impose a one-year "freeze" on farm price supports and wipe out cutbacks planned by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Backers of the measure have conceded they don't have the votes to override a veto.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said he "would not be surprised" if the President ordered new proposals for "helping out the situation on the farms." He said he expected any veto message to include some such "suggestions or recommendations."

But highly-placed congressional GOP sources said they knew of no White House plans to ease the blow to the farm bloc.

One House Republican said one suggested step was for the President to veto the bill and retain Benson's authority to make the planned price support reductions, but not to make the cuts as deep as present law permits.

The bill would freeze all 1958 farm prices and 1959 planting allotments at not less than 1957 levels. This would reverse cuts ordered by Benson for nine farm commodities including dairy products, wheat, rice, beans and several feed grains. The measure would also prevent 1959 acreage cuts for cotton and rice.

The President must decide before midnight whether to allow the dairy support cuts. As provided in Benson's original order of effective April 1 — the support prices for manufacturing milk would fall to $3.05 per hundred pounds and for butterfat to 50.9 cents a pound. The supports for the past year have been fixed at $3.25 and 58.9 cents respectively.

Ike's Action Challenge to Politicians

By UNITED PRESS

President Eisenhower vetoed a farm price support freeze bill today in a direct political challenge to congressional Democrats and some Republicans who supported it as an anti-recession measure.

The legislation would have frozen price supports on nine crops and acreage planting allotments at not less than 1957 levels. Its supporters conceded they could not muster the two-thirds Senate and House votes needed to override the veto.

The President, in the face of warnings from some of his own party that the veto could lose GOP seats in Congress in the fall elections, said that "what the farm economy needs is a thaw rather than a freeze."

Elsewhere in Congress: Public Works: The Senate Banking Committee approved, 13-2, a billion-dollar bill to pump more federal loans into the local public works projects. The measure, opposed by the administration, would provide expanded loans for construction and repair of streets, bridges, ports, sewers, hospitals, schools, libraries, and kindred works.

Jobs: Pay: Organized manufacturers and retailers told the House Ways and Means Committee that both the administration and Democratic plans for lengthening the duration of unemployment compensation benefits would be an invasion of states' rights. They also said the pending plans would discriminate among workers and lead to the government inking over state unemployment insurance programs.

Slump Spending: The House passed an 840-million-dollar administration-sponsored bill to permit government agencies to speed up purchases of supplies and equipment between now and July 1.

Publicity: The Senate Labor Committee approved a bill requiring full disclosure of all income and spending by employes health and welfare funds.

Rackets: W.B. Prosser, president of the Perfect Circle Corp., told the Senate Rackets Committee Congress should "clearly define" responsibility for violence in strikes or violence will continue. Prosser, first witness at an investigation into a 1955 strike by the United Automobile Workers, said the company believes the UAW could have ended the violence if it wanted to.

Army 'Copter Rescues Four Marooned Men

By VERNON SCOTT

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UP) — Four skiers marooned in the high Sierra wilds were rescued today by a huge two-engine Army helicopter which completed its mercy mission without a hitch.

The H-21 "Flying Banana" copter set down in Yosemite Valley shortly before 11 a.m. e.s.t.

One of the skiers, William Pope, 22, a Stanford University pre-medical student and son of a San Francisco architect, was carried from the copter on a stretcher. The other three, who had been caring for Pope since he became stricken with pneumonia last week, were able to walk from the craft.

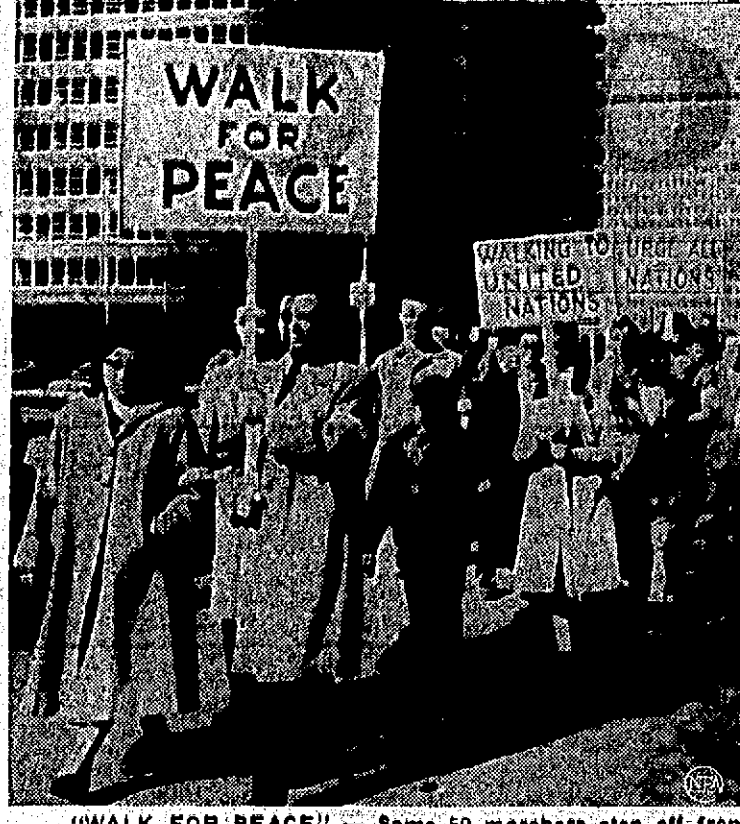

The four were taken immediately to Lewis Memorial Hospital for a physical examination and treatment.

"It was an electrifying performance," declared Chief Ranger Oscar Sodergren. "The entire Yosemite Valley turned out to welcome the copter. Crew and the others were cheerful and I believe they are not in too bad shape, all things considered."

The students with Pope were Bob Symons, of Orinda, Calif.; Margaret Meyer, 21, Seattle, Wash.; and Mike Roberts, 21, Neenah, Wis. They appeared to be suffering from exhaustion.

The rescue scene was between towering Mt. Lyell, which is near the nation's only living glacier, and Rodgers Peak. Both snowed peaks rose above 3,000 feet with the saddle area about 11,000 feet high.

After the rescue, Sodergren and his rangers began an immediate attempt to establish radio contact with a 10-member ground party. The group had been battling snow storms for the past 48 hours in a rescue try.

No Assurance, Says U.S. of Soviet Claim

By DONALD J. GONZALES

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States today discounted Russia's decision to halt temporarily its nuclear tests, without waiting for international agreement. The State Department said Russia's action offered the world no assurance against cheating on a test ban.

The department said Russia's unilateral but temporary ban "can be evaded in secrecy and altered at will."

It said the free world should not give up its collective capacity to defend itself merely in exchange for a Soviet promise.

A statement issued by the State Department and was approved by President Eisenhower called on Russia to negotiate an disarmament through the United Nations and to stop flouting the world organization.

The Kremlin's move, coming immediately after completion of Russia's latest series of Siberian nuclear tests, was seen by officials here as a move to embarrass the United States, which plans a series of H-bomb and other nuclear tests in the Pacific this spring and summer.

A State Department spokesman said Saturday, in response to a Soviet protest against holding the American tests in a U.N. trust territory that this country intends to go ahead with them. The department publicly rejected each point in the Soviet note.

There was no reference to the forthcoming U.S. tests in today's State Department statement.

It was prepared in advance and read to reporters about an hour after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko announced in Moscow Russia's decision temporarily to halt all nuclear weapons testing.

It is elemental that free nations which want to remain free will not and should not forego their indispensable collective capability to deter and defend against aggression merely in reliance on a Soviet statement of intention for which there is no system of verification which can be evaded in secrecy and altered at will," the United States said.

The United States again calls on the Soviet Union to deal with the vital problem of disarmament in an orderly way, in accordance with the U.N. charter, to which the signature of the Soviet Union is attached.

The average daily patient population at the Arkansas State Hospital during 1957 was 1,922, and in 1956 it was 1,834.

There's more than one way to land an industry...

From its beginning the AIDC has emphasized that there are three ways to land an industry, and last year Jonesboro proved the value of all three. In 1957 Jonesboro landed 670 new jobs because it: 1) started a new industry, Arkansas Glass Containers; 2) expanded an existing industry, Frolic Footwear; and 3) brought in a branch plant, Colson. We'd be glad to tell you how they did it — or ask the people at Jonesboro!

THE STORY: Tom Weber, returning to Barkerville after 11 years finds Lily Barker married to Jeff Alderton, candidate for governor. Tom attends a political picnic sponsored by the candidate.

VII

Weber waited while Alderton said to him: "That little farm of yours. I think the house has fallen down by now. Not worth anything, but you've just won a stake. A little more might help you get a start somewhere. I'll take the farm off your hands."

"For how much?"

Alderton shrugged. "The land's no good, and the softbustlers are in between your place and mine, but... a dollar an acre, maybe. More'n it's worth, but for old times' sake."

"For old times' sake," said Weber. "I'm going to turn you down."

"Have it your way," Alderton said curtly and turned away.

Weber waited a moment, then started off in a different direction. He had gone only a dozen paces when he stopped abruptly. Lily Alderton was coming toward him.

"You're Tom Weber," she nodded. "I suppose I should have recognized you on the road, but it's been such a long time and—"

Suddenly Lily let out a gasp. "You knew me, though?"

Weber nodded.

"Then why didn't you say who you were?"

"I didn't exactly put my friends the last time we met."

She looked at him, her forehead creased. "That—that's how you remembered me all these years?"

"No," he said evenly. He made a flicking gesture of dismissal. "As you can see, the prodigal didn't return fat and prosperous."

Lily Alderton said stiffly, "I think Jeff's looking for me." She started to turn away. "I'm glad you're home, Mr. Weber."

Weber heard the footsteps behind him. A man came up, came completely around Weber and stopped a half dozen feet away, facing him. He was a grizzled, ruddy-faced man in his late fifties. For a moment Weber and the other man looked steadily at each other, then Charlie Weber said, "Hello, Tom."

"I suppose there are words for an occasion like this," Weber said slowly. "but I never learned them."

The clear blue eyes that looked at him did not falter. Charlie Weber said, "You've changed, son. I wish I could say it was for the better."

"I left with an empty stomach," Weber said. "and I came back the same way. But you're different. You're sober."

The eyes of Charlie Weber showed pain. "You're my son, Tom," he said poignantly. "and I've thought of you through the years. Maybe I've thought of you too much." His face became bleak, his voice almost toneless as he went on. "Certainly I never thought the first words you'd say to me, if I ever say you again, would be 'you're sober.'"

Weber remained where he was, but his eyes did not follow his father.

In a little while he started to leave the picnic grove. Marshall Barker materialized and fell in step beside him.

"Give the ranch back to my father," Weber said.

"Very well, we'll stop in at the bank and you can sign a transfer. What about the tax money?"

"You want to pay that back to Lily Alderton?"

"She paid the taxes?" exclaimed Weber.

"Your father was unable to those first few years. The county put a lien on the ranch and when she heard about it Lily paid it off and continued to pay the taxes every year. She also paid the road and bridge assessments."

"I'll pay it," said Weber. "I've got $470."

"It comes to over seven hundred," Marshall said.

"Why?" exclaimed Weber.

"Why did she pay the taxes?"

"Why did she build the dam?"

"Why did she sell a hundred thousand acres of land?"

"Why did she sell all of Lobo and go back

Rackets Group Turns to 2nd Auto Dispute

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee turned today to another labor management dispute involving the United Auto Workers and charges of violence on both sides.

It was scheduled to being a two-day hearing on the UAW strike against the Perfect Circle Corp., an Indiana piston ring manufacturer with plants in three communities. The strike began in 1955 and ended the same year.

No more than 10 witnesses from the company and the union were expected to be called. This was in sharp contrast to the dozens who testified for five weeks in the inquiry into the Kohler Co. strike in Wisconsin which starts its fifth year this week.

The committee's public hearings on the Kohler strike ended Saturday with auto union President Walter P. Reuther accusing some GOP committee members of plotting to destroy him and his union.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), a committee member and former union official, said Sunday the Kohler hearings had accomplished "very little" and there may be more bitterness now than before the committee "stirred up old hatreds."

McNamara, interviewed on a television program, also said the Perfect Circle hearings would only "stir up trouble and open up old wounds" without serving much legislative usefulness.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) also a committee member, said the place for the Kohler hearing was in the National Labor Relations Board and it was "impossible" for us to settle the strike.

Asked if the hearings accomplished anything, he said the committee "exposed the fact that there have been abuses on both sides" and that the NLRB is "too slow in its consideration of these problems." He said the hearings showed the need "for speeding up" NLRB procedures.

Although settled much more quickly than the Kohler dispute, the Perfect Circle strike got more national attention because of the sharper violence that marked its course.

On Oct. 5, 1955, plant police and pickets engaged in a gun battle at the New Castle, Ind., Perfect Circle plant. Eight persons were wounded. A National Guardsman was ordered in and martial law declared in New Castle, Richmond and Hagerstown, Ind., where the three plants struck by the UAW were located.

Four Die in a Texas City Explosion

TEXAS CITY, Texas (UP)—Three men died in a chemical plant unit that exploded Sunday, the day before for repairs.

The three men inside the two-story brick building were control board operators. Today the building was to have undergone repairs and there would have been 100 men in it, officials of the Union Carbide Co., a division of Carbide Chemicals Corp., said.

Damage was estimated at over a million dollars. The blast, which shook buildings 12 miles away at Galveston, took place three miles from the harbor where explosions, fires and a tidal wave killed some 50 persons in 1947.

Liquid oxygen and liquid nitrogen were made in the building for use in producing polyethylene, a plastic.

The explosion was believed to have occurred in a cracking unit. The three men died instantly and their bodies were recovered by more than 200 rescue workers who dug through the rubble.

The victims were S.B. Crider, 39, Larmar, father of five children, R.E. Storer, 35, Texas City, and Horace F. Smith, 37, Houston.

There were 214 more patients admitted to the Arkansas State Hospital during the year of 1957 than during 1956.

Calls on Ike to Withdraw U. S. Troops

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A North Carolina senator called President Eisenhower's sending of troops to Little Rock last fall "one of the most tragic days for constitutional government in American history."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. spoke to more than 600 persons attending a $10-a-plate democratic fund-raising banquet Saturday night.

About 40 members of Citizens Councils refused to be seated at the dinner after they learned Fred W. Martin, a Hot Springs Negro, was attending.

Attorney Amis Guthridge of Little Rock, a segregationist leader, said the segregationist refused to attend because "we don't have dinner with Negroes." He said to be seated when Martin, a former Hot Springs alderman, was present "would be an endorsement of integration."

The Rev. Wesley Pruden, president of the Capital Citizens Council, said he felt "this was planned by the other side to embarrass us. They planted only one (Negro)." He explained he meant "by the other side" those "who support integration."

State Sen. Jack V. Clark of Texas said he felt Ervin's speech was "a big disappointment and he called the talk a southern filibuster."

Ervin in his speech said the Little Rock integration problem proved "racial problems cannot be solved by judicial or military coercion." And, he said, it showed such problems can be solved only "by good will and intelligence and patience on the local level where men and women live, move and have their being."

The senator, a member of the Senate judiciary committee which handles civil rights legislation, said the central high trouble showed the rest of the nation the "southern states know something about the racial problem because they live with it day by day." He said the southern states should be "allowed the same freedom to seek solutions of racial problems within their respective borders that is accorded to the other states for solutions of their problems."

Ervin charged most of the trouble is the result of the lack of effective leadership by the Eisenhower administration.

Israel, Syria Battle Along Sea of Galilee

By UNITED PRESS

Israel and Syria fought a 75-minute battle with tanks and mortars Sunday on the shores of the Sea of Galilee.

The fighting appeared to be symptomatic of the growing restlessness of the Middle East nations, with Soviet Russia expected to make a major new bid for Middle East oil when President Gamal Abdel Nasser visits Moscow next month.

In Cairo a United Arab Republic spokesman warned that Israel is planning aggression against Syria. Arab League Secretary General Abdel Khalek Hassouna warned that Israel might try to seize the divided city of Jerusalem from Jordan.

There was no official statement from Israel, which is concerned that Egypt and Syria might seek a land connection in the future.

A Syrian military spokesman said in Damascus two Syrians were killed and two wounded in the Israeli clash, which ended when United Nations officials called a truce. He said the Israelis suffered "heavy losses." Israel said two Israelis were slightly wounded.

The clash took place in the Huleh Basin in the central sector of

Four Persons Killed in Auto Accident

FORT SMITH (P)—Four persons died when the car in which they rode struck a metal strip then hurtled through the air and hit a bridge abutment early Sunday.

Cap. Ernest Howard of the Fort Smith police department said the car, carrying six persons, traveled more than 90 feet through the air before coming to rest on its side.

Howard identified the dead as Jerry Raley, 24, the driver; Andrew (Hunky) Hendricks, 27; Mrs. Johnnie Rice, 24 and Robert M. Denny, 29, all of Fort Smith.

Two other passengers, Mrs. William H. Denny, a sister-in-law of one of the dead and Mrs. Catherine Hendricks, wife of another victim, were hospitalized. Mrs. Denny was believed critical.

Ironically, Capt. William Rodgers, police traffic director, posted only Saturday a commendation to patrolmen for helping promote the city's record of 148 days without a fatal accident.

The demilitarized border zone between Syria and Israel.

The clash was the sharpest since Syria united with Egypt last month. It was the first time in many months that tanks have been in action on the Israeli borders.

Two Drown as Boat Goes Over Dam

BATESVILLE (UP)—Two persons, including the Independence county circuit clerk, drowned when their motorboat's engine failed and they drifted over the White river dam near here Sunday.

Sheriff Burton Arnold identified the dead as Bobby Johnston, 27, who was serving his first term as Independence circuit clerk, and Phillip Ballard, 17, both of Batesville.

Arnold said a third occupant of the boat, Jimmy Millsap, 25, managed to leap from the craft and swim ashore.

Another boatsman, Junior Hughes of Batesville, also drifted over the spillway in his motorboat in a vain attempt to save the other men. However, he survived the plunge.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

The Hallmark of Circulation Integrity

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is this A.B.C. emblem a symbol of FACTS about the circulations of newspapers and periodicals. It is the emblem of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations* and is assurance to advertisers that the circulations of member publications are measured, audited and reported in accordance with the rigid standards that have been mutually approved and adopted by advertisers and publishers. Here's why our membership in the A.B.C. is important to our advertisers and ourselves: At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: how much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that advertisers need as a sound basis for their advertising investments. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative organization of 2,275 publishers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a standard for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.
